SENTENCE OF 1 TO 8 YEARS SUSPENDED

Frank Gordon, Age 43, Pleads Guilty to Charge of Larceny Growing Out of Local Theft

LIVES IN CHARLOTTESVILLE

Fine of $1 and Costs in Addition to Sentence, Which Was Suspended During Good Behavior

Frank Gordon, age 43, who lives in the town of Charlottesville, on the Rush county side, was arraigned this morning before Judge Sparks on a charge of larceny, and pleaded guilty, receiving a fine of $1 and costs and a sentence of from one to 8 years.

After giving the defendant some good advice, Judge Sparks suspended the term upon good behavior, and told him to go back home and live the right kind of a life.

Gordon was arrested about a week ago, charged with stealing coal from a dealer in Charlottesville, and after he was arrested and was brought to jail here, he was unable to provide the bond.

Among the new business in court is a complaint on a claim, filed by the Southeastern hospital for the insane at Madison, against the estate of Otiley Kitley, in which the state institution is seeking $260 for services rendered.

In the divorce suit pending of Edna J. Miller against Roscoe V. Miller, the defendant has filed a motion for a change of venue from the county, and the case has been sent to Henry county, with one day given to perfect the change.

The case was set for trial last Saturday and continued when the defendant made a motion that he could not be here from Indianapolis, where he is employed and at his suggestion the case was carried over, upon condition that he could come any week-day after the holiday rush, and that he would not seek a further delay. The motion was presented this morning to the extent that he could not receive justice in this county, and asked for a change. Only one day was given to complete the change, and if not carried out in that period of time will be lost.

The case of the state, ex rel Catt against Phil Wilk is set for Friday. The case is a claim filed by Frank A. Catt, county surveyor, against Phil Wilk, auditor, in which the plaintiff is seeking to collect money that he alleges is due him on surveying contracts.

Several divorce actions are set for trial Saturday.

COLD WAVE RUNNING 3 DAYS BEHIND SCHEDULE

Will Strike Indiana Tonight, Weather Man Insists, Accompanied by Zero Temperatures

SEVEN DEAD IN STORMS

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 18—Running three days behind schedule, the predicted cold wave will strike Indiana tonight or early Friday, the weather bureau forecast today.

Rain today will turn into snow tonight and by Friday the mercury will drop to zero in the northern part of the state and to ten above zero in the southern part.

Peculiar local conditions shunted the cold wave away from Indiana earlier in the week, weather bureau officials said.

Chicago, Dec. 18—Known dead in the light snow and sleet storms in this territory totaled seven today, with all indications pointing to at least double that figure when casualties from other sections are available.

Three persons met death in Chicago during the past 24 hours, three died in other Illinois towns and one man was killed when his truck, loaded from the road near Walworth, Wis.

Only the advance guard of the severe western storm has reached this vicinity. The weather forecaster warns the full blast will strike all of the middle states some time today.

ACCOUNT SUITS - SETTLED

Agreement Reached on Suits Against W. S. Mansfield

Four complaints on accounts filed recently in Justice Stech's court were settled this morning by agreement, all of them being against Walter S. Mansfield of Milroy. In the case of the Rush County Mills, judgment was entered for $74.43 and costs; the B. F. Goodrich company was given $10.29 judgment; the McMahon, Lieb and Company was given judgment for $84.82 and costs and the Brown, Eager and Hull company for $40.

Among the new cases filed is a complaint by the John C. Grubb Company against the same defendant, demanding judgment for $45 on an account, and the case will be heard Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Two substantial gifts served to warm the heart of Santa Claus today—one of the $10.00 from D. M. Lollis, proprietor of the Lollis hotel and another of like amount from the Kiwanis club.

These together with the usual offering from the Salvation Army kettle and contributions from a number of children brought today's total close to $350.00 with Christmas just a week away.

Of course, Santa Claus will not have a week to accept money because he has to know beforehand how much he will have to provide a merry Christmas for the unfortunate and needy little folks of Rushville, and a Christmas dinner for families who are in want.

Leave Contributions at County Agent's Office

Persons who wish to contribute any vegetables or canned goods for baskets which will be distributed on Christmas may leave their contributions at the county agent's office in the first floor of the court house.

The fund has to be budgeted by Saturday so that the Good Fellows who always help with the buying and distribution can get busy.

In making the budget, it is possible to estimate what may be received up until Christmas, based on records of the past, but too much dependence can not be placed on the past, and Santa Claus is anxious to know how much he is going to have.

For this reason he urges his friends not to delay sending in their money any longer.

The Salvation Army corps leader, Captain Parsons, will endeavor to get as much food as possible donated for the baskets which will be distributed, and asks that all persons who are willing to contribute vegetables or canned goods should do so.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE BY THE REV. GIBSON WILSON

Speaks to Kiwanis Club on Meaning of the Holiday Season—Contribution to Santa Claus

NEXT MEETING TO BE JAN. 1

The Rev. Gibson Wilson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who was recently announced as a new member of the Kiwanis club, delivered a Christmas message to the club at its regular meeting at the Social club today noon, bringing out the thought that Christmas is the season for recognizing the debt that the world owes to Christ, whose birthday it commemorates.

The members of the club contributed $10.00 to the Daily Republican-Salvation Army Santa Claus fund.

The next meeting will not be held until Thursday, January 1, as the meeting day next week falls on Christmas day. At the first meeting of the new year, officers who were elected recently will be formally installed.

Fred Danielson of Oak Park, Illinois, was a guest at the meeting today.

AFFIRM DECISION IN RICHMOND BANKER'S CASE

United States Court of Appeals Acts on Appeal of Former President of Dickinson Trust Co.

ACCUSED OF TAKING $500,000

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 18—The United States court of appeals today affirmed the decision of lower court sentencing Edgar F. Hiatt, former president of the Dickinson Trust Company of Richmond, Ind., to five years in the federal penitentiary.

Hiatt was convicted in the United States district court in Indianapolis several months ago on a charge of misusing the Dickinson Trust Company funds.

He was charged with appropriating approximately $500,000 of the institution's money to his own use.

Counsel for Hiatt appealed from the decision of Federal Judge Anderson. The federal appeals court here tried the case in November.

Hiatt has thirty days in which to appeal to the United States Supreme court. His lawyer did not indicate whether an appeal would be made.

CHRISTMAS TRADE HEAVY IN RUSHVILLE

Warm, Rainy Weather Has Not Deterred Early Shoppers, According to Local Merchants

COLD WAVE WILL HELP SOME

Christmas Rush Not Really Under Way at Postoffice, But There has Been Much Early Mailing

Christmas trade has been heavy in Rushville this week, according to reports from local merchants, and the warm, rainy weather has not put any damper on the Christmas spirit that is manifested in early shopping.

The unseasonable temperatures of the past few days, it was expected would slow up Christmas business, but it has not had that effect on the trade, business men say.

Rushville has been crowded with shoppers every day this week, and the crowds are expected to increase each day, especially if the promised cold wave materializes and people are reminded that Christmas is just "around the corner."

Many who have visited the Rushville stores this week have said that they do not recall when they were more beautiful. Merchandise and toys of every description, that will answer every gift want imaginable, are being attractively displayed.

Clothing stores and others that remain open in the evening regularly, will be open for business every night until Christmas and other stores are planning to open after supper next week for the accommodation of shoppers who are unable to buy during the day.

The Christmas rush has not really started at the postoffice yet, according to postal authorities, who state, however, that the Christmas receipts are the equal of last year's at this time.

All preparations have been made by the postoffice employees to take care of the heavy business when it does begin by opening up a large window in the rear of the postoffice lobby, where Christmas parcels may be mailed.

The campaign for early mailing has been having its effect more every year, according to men at the postoffice, who note that people are following the advice of the postoffice department and are mailing their parcels which have many miles to travel, several days before Christmas.

IMMIGRATION TO BE TOPIC OF CONFERENCE

House Committee Approves Project to Call Countries of Western Hemisphere

UNIFORM POLICY WANTED

Washington, Dec. 18—The house immigration committee has approved a project for summoning a conference of all the countries of the Western Hemisphere to meet in the United States, to bring about a uniform immigration policy.

President Coolidge may shortly be called upon to summon the conference. Return of Secretary of Labor Davis from South America where he has been sounding out sentiment toward such a meeting is awaited before giving the movement definite form.

The projected conference, which had been discussed by the countries in secrecy for the past three months would seek first to band new world countries into a sort of "Monroe Doctrine of immigration" and second to standardize admission requirements and administrative details of handling and locating immigration.

Such questions as exclusion of the Japanese would come up only in a general way at first. The conference would not attempt to take up the question of immigration into the western hemisphere from any particular country, confining it only to laying down general principles of new world immigration policy.

Questions affecting individual countries probably would go over to later conferences.

Floyd Black, 28, Badly Wounded in Gun Battle at Terre Haute

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 18—Floyd Black, 28, said by police to be a criminal with a record, was captured here today after a gun battle in which he was so severely wounded that he was immediately rushed to a hospital by arresting officers in an effort to have his life.

Black has been hunted five days as an accomplice of his brother Lester, already under arrest in an attempted wreck of the Dixie Flyer, C. & E. I. creek train.

DEFENSE IN M'COY CASE OPENS

First Evidence Introduced by Attorneys for Former Pugilist

Los Angeles, Dec. 18—The defense in the case of "Kid" McCoy, charged with murdering Mrs. Teresa Mors, his ninth sweetheart, today was to call its first witnesses to the stand.

After eight days of prosecution testimony, the pugilist-lover now has his inning. Whether he goes to the gallows for the alleged slaying hinges on the turn of affairs in the next few days.

Mrs. Clara Simpson, intimate friend of Mrs. Mors and McCoy, may be one of the early defense witnesses called to support the "Kid's" claim that his paramour committed suicide.

MUSICAL SHOW FINDS A HEARTY RECEPTION

"The Gypsy Rover" Presented at Graham Annex Auditorium by High School Glee Clubs

WILL BE REPEATED TONIGHT

Tuneful Music and Well Trained Chorus Make Musical Comedy Entertaining

Set to tuneful music, "The Gypsy Rover," a typical musical comedy wherein all's well that ends well, found a hearty reception at its first presentation at the Graham Annex auditorium Wednesday night.

It was given by the boys and girls glee clubs of the Rushville high school, under the direction of David Seneff McIntosh, supervisor of music in the Rushville high school, and assisted by the Rushville high school orchestra, which played the score like veterans.

The plot, if it may be called one, revolves around the love affair of the gypsy rover, known as Rob, played by William Beher, and Lady Constance, daughter of English nobility.

Miss Emily Manzy as Lady Constance sang her part most entertainingly and won the admiration of the audience with her charming manner and her ability to sing the rather difficult yet melodious numbers.

The chorus work was splendid and the whole performance moved with snap and precision under the waving baton of Mr. McIntosh, who trained the youthful musical comedy stars.

"The Gypsy Rover" will be repeated tonight at the Graham Annex. It merits a much larger crowd than was out last night, but the attendance was considerably reduced by the heavy rain that interfered with many attending.

The scenes are set in a gypsy camp near London where Rob, who in reality is Sir Gilbert Howe, meets Lady Constance by accident, and succeeding scenes are in the home of Lady Constance's father, Sir George Martindale, where Rob's identity is finally disclosed and his romance with Lady Constance ends happily.

Those playing the principal parts were as follows: (Continued on Page Three)

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE IS UNDER WAY TODAY

Farm Bureau Campaign For New Members Starts With Four Meetings Wednesday Night

OTHER MEETINGS TONIGHT

Canvass of Township Follows Sessions Each Day and Thus Whole County Will be Covered

The annual membership campaign of the Rush County Farm Bureau was under way today, following four township meetings held Wednesday evening, and a similar series of meetings will be held tonight and Friday afternoon and evening.

The same plan will be followed as in the past. After the township meetings, canvassers will cover the township the following day, soliciting membership renewals and new members.

The membership drive is held on the heels of the county convention, which took place here Tuesday. At the convention the work of the county farm bureau was reviewed and in the evening at the annual banquet, achievements of the state bureau were outlined by the Indiana president, William H. Settle.

Four speakers who have wide experience in farm bureau are in the county and one will address a township meeting each night.

The first series was held by Orange, Noble, Center and Posey townships. C. A. Young, chairman of the Clinton county farm bureau, spoke at the Orange township meeting which was held at the Gowdy M. E. church. Noble township meeting was held at the New Salem school building and the speaker was H. R. Neyens of Morgan county. The New Salem orchestra provided music and refreshments were served.

The Center township meeting was held at the Mays hall and Oscar Swank of Montgomery county, a director of the Livestock Producers association, delivered the address. A musical program was given by O. P. Wamsley and Capt. Parsons of the Salvation Army of this city.

W. H. Robbins of Whitley county, a state director of the farm bureau for northern Indiana, addressed the meeting of Posey township farmers at the Arlington M. E. church. An oyster supper was a feature of the evening's gathering.

Richland township farmers held a meeting at Neff's Corner last night, preliminary to the regular session of the farm bureau at Richland tonight. Other meetings scheduled for tonight are as follows:

Ripley township, Carthage auditorium; Jackson township, at the township school building, with an oyster supper in connection; Anderson township, at the Milroy school building to be preceded by a supper at 5:30 o'clock.

SAY THAT MORTIMER HAD BAD REPUTATION

Defense Witnesses Assert That His Story Was Prompted by Bitter Feeling Against Forbes

TO DESTROY HIS TESTIMONY

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 18—Elias H. Mortimer, star witness for the government in the Forbes-Thompson fraud trial, has a "bad reputation" in Washington and was nearly ejected from a Washington hotel for extraordinary drunkenness, character witness called by the defense testified today.

Mortimer, a paid agent of the government, testified he was a party to the conspiracy between Col. Charles Forbes, former head of the Veteran's bureau, and John Thompson, St. Louis contractor, to defraud the government through illegal contracts for building veteran's hospitals. Upon his story of bribery and corruption in high offices, the government depends in its efforts to convict Forbes and Thompson.

Contending that Mortimer's story was utterly "false" and prompted by his bitter feeling toward Forbes the defense set about at once in an effort to destroy the value of his testimony.

The
Christmas
Peddler

By JOHN PALMER

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

ONLY a few people saw the incongruity of it. Abramowitz, in his long, greenish overcoat and the fur cap flattening his ears, had Christmas toys on his pushcart. There were few Jewish people in the Fourth district, though they were beginning to crowd the Irish hard on the outskirts. And the Irish thought it the most natural thing that old Abramowitz should sell Christmas toys.

Why not? All the youngsters wanted toys. There were red devils, firecrackers that you stamped under foot and they went off with a succession of explosions that never came to an end. There were wonderful dolls, and stockings full of sweetmeats, and Christmas cards so cheap. Everybody bought of Abramowitz. It was the first sign of Christmas when little Mike or Dan would call across the street: "Hey, the old Christmas Jew's coming with his pushcart."

Only this year the month wore on toward Christmas and there was no sign of Abramowitz. It was the 20th of December. Suddenly at the end of the street, the cry was raised: "The Christmas Jew's coming!"

Out they tumbled into the street, all the little Mikes and Dons and Norns. Then a surprise awaited them. This wasn't Abramowitz—it was another Christmas Jew, with a forked, black beard and malicious eyes. And his wares—well, they might have been all right, but they weren't the kind old Abramowitz had brought. And, somehow, nobody wanted to buy from this young man.

"Hey, where's Mr. Abramowitz?"
"He's ill. He ain't coming no more."
"What's the matter with him?"
"Ill in hospital. Very ill. No come back. I buy his business."

But the business that the young man who had supplanted old Abramowitz

did was singularly meager. Abramowitz had been a feature of the neighborhood so long. Except at Christmas time he was simply a peddler, passing along the street with old clothes and ties and cheap jewelry, but at Christmas he took on a peculiar atmosphere among the denizens of Cherry Hill. No, this wasn't their Christmas Jew.

Next day the young man was back again, but still business was meager. And he walked up and down, pushing his cart, a scowl upon his face. Why didn't anybody want to buy? He had been told it was a splendid opportunity to cut in on his rival's trade. He couldn't understand it.

There Was Abramowitz.

The twenty-second came. Somehow nobody quite lost faith in Abramowitz turning up. It seemed impossible that the old man wouldn't have notified somebody. But the twenty-third came.

Suddenly little Dan ran screaming up the street: "Hey, fellers, the Christmas Jew's come back!"
Out they poured—Mike, Dan, Nora and Kitty. There was Abramowitz, his pushcart loaded with the choicest selection of Christmas toys that had ever come into Cherry Hill. And Abramowitz himself, in his green overcoat and fur cap, looking no more than the shadow of his former self.

He had come out of the hospital a week before they wanted to dismiss him. He wasn't going to let his Christmas customers be disappointed. And now his barrow was almost empty.

"Chreestmas toys!" Up the street came the rival pushcart man, calling his wares and scowling. He stopped opposite Abramowitz and glared at him.

"Say, what you want to butt in on my trade for?" he demanded, advancing with truculent gestures.

That was a time in Cherry Hill. It was an instant the young rival's pushcart was stripped of its contents. Dolls, stockings, Santa Clauses, Christmas cards went flying over the street. And the young rival "Christmas Jew" went howling down the street, pursued by a regular phalanx of Dons and Mikes and Phelans.

"Chreestmas toys, Chreestmas toys," whispered Abramowitz, pushing his nearly denuded cart along the road.

"You come back next Christmas!"
"Sure, sure! Always come back!" whimpered Abramowitz.

They watched him over the top of Cherry Hill. They did not know that he was going back to the hospital. Nor would they know that he had died there, until next Christmas found him missing. But there would be no rival next Christmas in Cherry Hill.

Make Your Choice:—Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. Matthew 6: 19, 21.

Prayer:—Lord, Thou hast said, "My Son give Me Thine heart." We would now give Thee our hearts and then we cannot but give Thee all else now and ever.

U. S. ROZINANTES

The Chief of Cavalry of the United States Army, in his annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924, says:

"It is a pleasure to record that all cavalry regiments have attained very nearly, if not entirely, the authorized enlisted strength during the year—an agreeable contrast to the depleted strength existing at the date of my last annual report. The spirited methods and accurately functioning system of training which now prevail in the regular cavalry can thus produce the maximum benefit, in so far as legal limitations as to strength permit.

"Although the purchase of cavalry horses authorized during the fiscal year 1925 will relieve, to some extent, the serious situation which has existed, it is my duty to point that on June 30, 1925, there will exist an additional estimated shortage of between 1000 and 1200 cavalry horses, and that the average age of the horses in the cavalry, excepting those purchased during the present year, will be about 15½ years. The rapidity with which cavalry can act in the event of emergency ought to justify its having a sufficiency of capable mounts at all times." That is a high average age for a cavalry horse. It would be high for a goat, and it is fortunate cavalry horses do not wear whiskers. The cavalry horse begins to deteriorate at seven years of age. Of course if the cavalry horse were intended primarily for purposes of barricade, these old nags, being tougher, might better serve in such capacity; but cavalry is used for swift action, and it is by no means an obsolete branch of the fighting force. A fifteen-year old horse might suit a pacifist for offensive operations, but even a pacifist would prefer the younger generation in case of a retreat. The American cavalryman is more glorious in advance than in retreat, therefore, he ought to have a horse suited to his temperament.

Famous Islands

The Isle of Yap became famous over night when it was involved in an international controversy and the Isle of Pines bids to become equally famous, due to a dispute as to its ownership.

Old maps have been searched for the blot on the ocean designating the island since it has been appearing in the news and has been raised to the dignity of being the subject of a treaty.

The Isle of Pines is a small patch of ground with an area of about one thousand square miles located south of the west end of Cuba. It was discovered by Columbus in 1494 and is rich in buccaneer lore.

It rose from obscurity after the Spanish-American war, when Americans began to settle on it, after its ownership was unsettled by the treaty of 1903 with Cuba.

Since that time its possession has been in dispute, but ingenious Americans have gone ahead developing its rich soil and there are now some 4,000 living there.

The little island was regarded as a part of Porto Rico, which passed to the United States by the treaty with Spain, but Cuba has been pressing its claim to the territory and a treaty recognizing its claim has been framed and will probably be ratified by the senate during the present session of congress.

A committee of Americans has been busy in Washington lobbying against the treaty to protect their interests there in the face of the fact that the United States supreme court in April 1907, decided the island was not American territory; that the department of state has declared that the island was always administered as a part of Cuba; and that Secretary of State Root declared it rightfully belonged to Cuba.

The United States may recognize Cuba's right to the island, but there is nothing to prevent this country from buying the patch of ground because of the American capital invested there.

WASHINGTON—The golfing contingent in Congress will add a renowned recruit at the next session with the arrival of Dr. Charles Aubrey Eaton of Watchung, N. J.

Eaton was famous 20 years ago as "John D. Rockefeller's pastor." He acquired the title by reason of his pastorate at the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church, Cleveland, where the oil magnate worshipped during his summer-time sojourns at his magnificent Forest Hill estate.

But it wasn't so much his preaching at John D.'s church that won him prominence, even then, as it was his golfing. John D. had a private golf course on his estate and indulged in a daily game for the sake of his health.

And on these occasions he usually had his physician or his pastor, or both, as golfing companions. As a result, Eaton's prowess with a masher became even better known in the "Sixth City" than his persuasiveness as a pastor.

IN 1909 Eaton graduated from the Cleveland church into the pastorate of the Madison Avenue Church, New York. Rockefeller at about this time also abandoned his Cleveland home, preferring to spend his summers at Tarrytown and New York and his winters in Florida.

Sociology always has been a hobby with Eaton, and it was the sociological trend of his discourses that is said to have first attracted the attention of Rockefeller, who was seeking at that time for channels and methods through which his millions might be made to work for the general welfare.

This sociological bent caused Eaton, during the war, to succeed his pupil to head the National Service Section of the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation. Introduced into his new job by Charles M. Schwab, then head of the Shipping Board, Eaton told the workers at one of the big shipyards, in an address:

"If you catch a spy in these shipyards, blow him to hell!" So—whether as a golfer or as a forceful speaker—Eaton may reasonably be expected to make himself heard in Washington.

JUST how gun-shy officialdom was of any act that might be in any way construed as recognition of the presence in Washington of a pretender to the Russian throne was shown by the scarcity of persons connected with the government at the fete in honor of Grand Duchess Cyril.

Never a cabinet officer or State Department attaché of any rank got within gunshot of the Willard Hotel during her presence there. They couldn't have been more cautious had a smallpox sign been displayed.

PROBABLY no member of the Senate surveys the political situation more blandly than Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana.

Sam, you may remember, had the Democratic nomination for president within his grasp along about the 19th ballot last July.

Tom Taggart had at last got things ribbed up for the Hoosier solon and breaks in the deadlocked delegations had set in in his favor, when a telegram from Indianapolis was received putting an end to the procession. Much as he appreciated the honor, Sam said, or something to that effect, he simply could not accept a nomination.

The meaning of which was explained to me by one of Sam's sons on the convention floor.

"The nomination wouldn't be worth anything, so why should father want it?" he asked. So Sam has just celebrated his 77th birthday "feeling much better than if I had been a presidential candidate," he explains.

You Can't Do Your Work When Your Stomach Isn't Working---Take Di-Jo

If you feel lousy and tired after your meal, there is ordinarily a good reason for it. Your stomach isn't digesting your food properly and your body feels the drag on your whole system.

You can't feel bright and cheery and "rarin' to go" with such a drawback. Just go to your druggist and ask for Di-Jo. Take it regularly and you'll find it putting the spring into your step, and you'll notice how much better your stomach treats you and what's more, you'll discover that your food is not only being easily and properly digested but that it is giving your body the proper nourishment.

Don't neglect your stomach and don't fail to help it with Di-Jo. This remedy is primarily an aid to digestion and just about nine times out of ten you'll find that a sound stomach means a sound body. Ask your druggist for Di-Jo.

If you are troubled with constipation take Di-Jo. It is sold by all druggists and is recommended to be used in connection with Di-Jo, if any is needed.

We have received one of the four carloads of oranges I selected and bought from the best groves while I was in Florida. These are tree-ripened, very sweet and juicy. Buying in such large quantities I can give my customers the benefit of low prices on quality fruits.

Oranges are so cheap that everyone may have all the oranges they can eat. They are as cheap as apples, and quite a change for the children's school lunches. These oranges will keep nicely for some time. Buy your Xmas oranges now. 20c, 30c, 40c, 50c per dozen. $2.25 per Basket.

Have carload, part Tangerines and Grapefruit. Good size grapefruit, 5c each.

Celery is extra nice, well bleached and tender.

House at Highest Bid

Having agreed to move to Indianapolis, I have placed my bungalow on the market and will sacrifice to the highest bidder on or before noon on December 20th.

This is a very high class building located in East Seventh street, Number 321. Has electric lights, cellar, bath and nicely finished on the inside and out. You might build the house new for $4200, but I doubt it. For some one wanting a bargain I will open for bids with a cash deposit on the same at once.

Jesse W. Guire, the Realtor, is handling this property for me and will accept any bid within reason.

TAX SPECIALIST TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

Income taxation is undoubtedly one of the most important problems of the day. Every change in the law, every new regulation, every revised interpretation, has a direct effect upon the taxpayer's account with the United States Government. Yet experience shows that the average person does not know how to correctly prepare his income tax return.

Believing that Daily Republican readers would be vitally interested in a subject of such import, especially at this time, it has been arranged to have an income tax column which will deal with this question from a simple, practical viewpoint.

In this connection, we have been fortunate in obtaining the services of M. L. Seidman, C. P. A., who will conduct this Department. Mr. Seidman is a well known tax expert and has been a close student of taxation in all its phases. He developed a plan of taxation that was submitted to the Senate Finance committee in executive conference prior to the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1921.

Mr. Seidman is a senior member of the firm of Seidman & Seidman, certified public accountants, a nationally known tax and accounting organization. He is also chairman of the committee of Tax consultants of the Committee of American Business Men, an association composed of many of the leading business men of the country.

The Department will appear weekly, and to further its scope, Mr. Seidman has consented to answer through our columns all questions that might be directed to him bearing on the subject.

Questions should be addressed to The Tax Editor, in care of the Daily Republican. All communications must be signed by the inquirer, but no names will be disclosed in the published answers.

Frankfort—Otto Coffin, barber here was the owner of an ancient automobile. He let Woody Dupler drive it to see what repairs it needed. Dupler parked it under a tree and returned shortly afterwards to see it shooting sparks. It was completely destroyed.

Will "Sell" Self

Mrs. Isabel Martin, San Francisco war widow is willing to "sell" her self to obtain money for an operation that may cure her daughter, Cleo. 11 The little girl now in Cleveland is suffering from paralysis. Her mother is ready to blind herself to some employer for a year if he will advance her $500 to meet the surgeon's fee.

The Christmas Announcement

By Mary Graham Bonner

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WALLY TREADWAY, or Wally, as his friends knew him, sang the tenor part in the moving picture and vaudeville theater quartette. Magnificent songs they sang ("program changed weekly") with beautiful stage settings as their background. "By the Old Camp-Fire" thrilled his listeners, and Wally, sitting over a stage fire consisting of two electric light bulbs shining upon a strip of painted tin with a red streak of paint in the curtains above him to indicate the glow from the fire's embers; Wally in a khaki hat and suit and handkerchief about his neck singing the song of haying, or making the tears come to the eyes of the audience when he sang "As I Sat Upon My Dear Old Mother's Knee," was about the "grandest" man Blanche Draper, the head usher, had ever seen.

True, Wally had never seen a camp fire, nor had he ever sat upon his mother's knee, for he had spent his youth in an orphanage and he could love the golden light which was sent down from the green and gold ceiling upon the "new-mown hay" as he stood pitchfork in hand, even though he had never seen the real country.

They went out a great deal together, yet as the time went on Wally seemed to grow quieter. Perhaps he was tired of her. He had sent her a Christmas gift that afternoon of Christmas Eve, and yet with it had come this note, shattering all her happiness:

"Blanche Dear: I know it will seem awful to you reading of the engagement announced in this afternoon's paper, but if you'll only give me a chance I'll explain so you won't think me such a cad. Give me the chance to put myself right. At least for the sake of our friendship and the grand times we've had, don't judge me hastily. Not that I don't want to be engaged—I do! But I want to talk to you about everything soon! So I can explain. Perhaps after the show tonight?"

So there was some one else, and the engagement had been announced. That was why Wally had grown quieter and quieter. He had been trying to break it to her, and she had thought at times he was shy. He hadn't been so shy, after all!

She would not go to the theater tonight. What did she care for explanations? Cora Brown, her roommate and assistant usher, would take charge.

"I Got a Couple of Extra Copies of the Paper."

She heard Cora's step now.

"What! You in, Blanche?" she asked.

"Yes," came from Blanche a moment later.

"You're a queer one—thought you'd be out celebrating. Only you might have slipped me the news first. I got a couple of extra copies of the paper."

"Let me see," Blanche said sadly. She had to see it sooner or later, and face the situation. And then suddenly her eyes lighted upon her own name. With a rush and an explanation which seemed mad to Cora, she had hastened from the room. She could just catch Wally at the pastry shop where so often they had eaten their supper together.

And then—as she saw Wally at a table at the far end—it dawned on her that Wally had never proposed to her. It was a mistake! And that was why he was apologizing.

He beckoned her to his table. "Darling," he said, "it was not my fault. I didn't brag to Jennings, our publicity man, you know, of what I had no right. I only said I hoped it would be an engagement, and he just thought he'd stick it in, for he believes we are engaged."

"Oh, Blanche, can you forgive me? And can't you make—the announcement come true?"

"I—I'll make it real if you urge good and hard, Wally," she said.

That night before she went to bed she took one of the newspapers to tuck under her pillow.

"Oh, what a merry Christmas you've given me," she whispered to the paper. "You're a blessed Christmas announcement, that's what you are. I could almost hug you—you beautiful printed words!"

And she smiled at the announcement in a most approving way!

Christmas Giving

By KATHERINE EDELMAN

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

AST your bread upon the waters and it will come back to you after many days." How many times have these words come true for each one of us—aye, more than true, for the little loaf that we sent out came back multiplied many times and its quality was improved a hundred fold. Every kind word spoken, every helping hand given a fellow-being travelling over some roughened mile, if done with the right spirit within our hearts, will be repaid a hundred fold. For while we are doing acts of service and helpfulness we are not alone helping our fellow men but are building up our own character and uplifting ourselves to a higher plane.

So it is with Christmas giving, too. If we give with the real spirit of the season, from the pure joy that giving brings, we will find as the days go on that what we gave and did was but a mite compared to the returns it brought us.

Discouraged Actor

"No Christmas tree this year?" "No," replied Mrs. Bliggins. "Children outgrown tinsel and toys?" "No. Father lost his ambition to play Santa Claus."

A Room Full

"Elsie seems to have a great many girl friends." "Judge for yourself. She received 28 bouclir caps, alone, for Christmas presents."

Alarmed

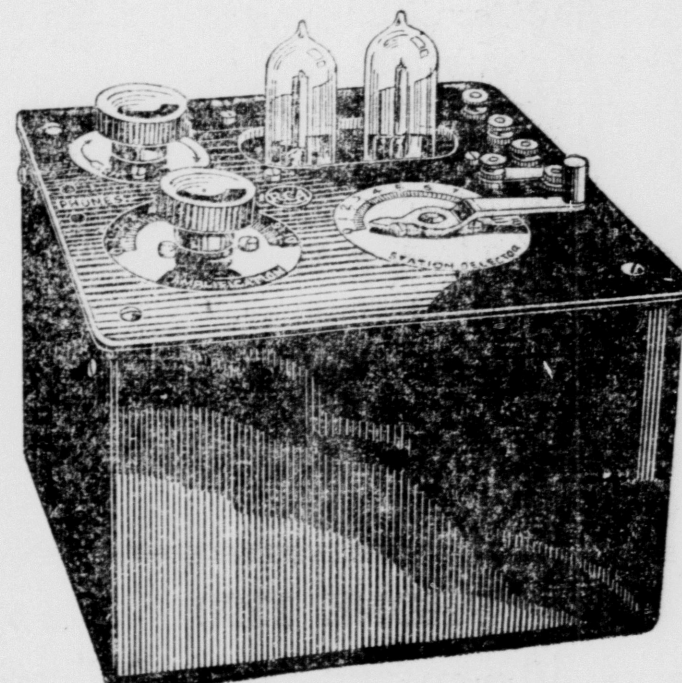

Miss Passe—You're just the kind of man to take advantage of the mistletoe, I know!

Young—Great heavens! Are we near any of the stuff?

The Sin of Lying

The sin of telling a lie is not great. When a man returns from fishing. It is not a very serious matter if he adds a fish or two to his string; every one has fished, and knows the probabilities, so no one is harmed. . . . The real sin of telling lies is the waste of time; it isn't the shortest, easiest or best way.

SENTENCE OF 1 TO 8 YEARS SUSPENDED

Frank Gordon, Age 43, Pleads Guilty to Charge of Larceny Growing Out of Local Theft

LIVES IN CHARLOTTESVILLE

Fine of $1 and Costs in Addition to Sentence, Which Was Suspended During Good Behavior

Frank Gordon, age 43, who lives in the town of Charlottesville, on the Rush county side, was arraigned this morning before Judge Sparks on a charge of larceny, and pleaded guilty, receiving a fine of $1 and costs and a sentence of from one to 8 years.

After giving the defendant some good advice, Judge Sparks suspended the term upon good behavior, and told him to go back home and live the right kind of a life.

Gordon was arrested about a week ago, charged with stealing coal from a dealer in Charlottesville, and after he was arrested and was brought to jail here, he was unable to provide the bond.

Among the new business in court is a complaint on a claim, filed by the Southeastern hospital for the insane at Madison, against the estate of Otisley Kitley, in which the state institution is seeking $260 for services rendered.

In the divorce suit pending of Edna J. Miller against Roscoe V. Miller, the defendant has filed a motion for a change of venue from the county, and the case has been sent to Henry county, with one day given to perfect the change.

The case was set for trial last Saturday and continued when the defendant made a motion that he could not be here from Indianapolis, where he is employed and at his suggestion the case was carried over, upon condition that he could come any week-day after the holiday rush, and that he would not seek a further delay. The motion was presented this morning to the extent that he could not receive justice in this county, and asked for a change. Only one day was given to complete the change, and if not carried out in that period of time will be lost.

The case of the state, ex rel. Catt against Phil Wilk is set for Friday. The case is a claim filed by Frank Catt, county surveyor, against Phil Wilk, auditor, in which the plaintiff is seeking to collect money that he alleges is due him on surveying contracts.

Several divorce actions are set for trial Saturday.

COLD WAVE RUNNING 3 DAYS BEHIND SCHEDULE

Will Strike Indiana Tonight. Weather Man Insists, Accompanied by Zero Temperatures

SEVEN DEAD IN STORMS

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 18—Running three days behind schedule, the predicted cold wave will strike Indiana tonight or early Friday, the weather bureau forecast today.

Rain today will turn into snow tonight and by Friday the mercury will drop to zero in the northern part of the state and to ten above zero in the southern part.

Peculiar local conditions shunted the cold wave away from Indiana earlier in the week, weather bureau officials said.

Chicago, Dec. 18—Known dead in the light snow and sleet storms in this territory totaled seven today, with all indications pointing to at least double that figure when casualties from other sections are available.

Three persons met death in Chicago during the past 24 hours, three died in other Illinois towns and one man was killed when his truck added from the road near Walworth, Wis.

Only the advance guard of the overdue western storm has reached this vicinity. The weather forecaster warns the full blast will strike all of the middle states some time today.

ACCOUNT SUITS - SETTLED

Agreement Reached on Suits Against W. S. Mansfield

Four complaints on accounts filed recently in Justice Stech's court were settled this morning by agreement, all of them being against Walter S. Mansfield of Milroy. In the case of the Rush County Mills, judgment was entered for $74.43 and costs; the B. F. Goodrich company was given $10.29 judgment; the McMahon, Lieb and Company was given judgment for $84.82 and costs and the Brown, Eager and Hall company for $40.

Among the new cases filed is a complaint by the John C. Grubb Company against the same defendant, demanding judgment for $95 on an account, and the case will be heard Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

SANTA'S HEART IS WARMED BY GIFTS

Daily Republican-Salvation Army Fund is Near $350 With Less Than Week Remaining

Total $348.82

Two substantial gifts served to warm the heart of Santa Claus today—one of the $10.00 from D. M. Lollis, proprietor of the Lollis hotel and another of like amount from the Kiwanis club.

These together with the usual offerings from the Salvation Army kettle and contributions from a number of children brought today's total close to $350.00 with Christmas just a week away.

Of course, Santa Claus will not have a week to accept money because he has to know beforehand how much he will have to provide a merry Christmas for the unfortunate and needy little folks of Rushville, and a Christmas dinner for families who are in want.

Leave Contributions at County Agent's Office

Persons who wish to contribute any vegetables or canned goods for baskets which will be distributed on Christmas may leave their contributions at the county agent's office in the first floor of the court house.

The fund has to be budgeted by Saturday so that the Good Fellows who always help with the buying and distribution can get busy.

In making the budget, it is possible to estimate what may be received up until Christmas, based on records of the past, but too much dependence can not be placed on the past, and Santa Claus is anxious to know how much he is going to have.

For this reason he urges his friends not to delay sending in their money any longer.

The Salvation Army corps leader, Captain Parsons, will endeavor to get as much food as possible donated for the baskets which will be distributed, and asks that all persons who are willing to contribute vegetables and canned goods should do so today.

AHA! THIS COMPLICATES MATTERS CONSIDERABLY.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE BY THE REV. GIBSON WILSON

Speaks to Kiwanis Club on Meaning of the Holiday Season—Contribution to Santa Claus

NEXT MEETING TO BE JAN. 1

The Rev. Gibson Wilson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who was recently announced as a new member of the Kiwanis club, delivered a Christmas message to the club at its regular meeting at the Social club today noon, bringing out the thought that Christmas is the season for recognizing the debt that the world owes to Christ, whose birthday it commemorates.

The members of the club contributed $10.00 to the Daily Republican-Salvation Army Santa Claus fund.

The next meeting will not be held until Thursday, January 1, as the meeting day next week falls on Christmas day. At the first meeting of the new year, officers who were elected recently will be formally installed.

Fred Danielson of Oak Park, Illinois, was a guest at the meeting today.

AFFIRM DECISION IN RICHMOND BANKER'S CASE

United States Court of Appeals Acts on Appeal of Former President of Dickinson Trust Co.

ACCUSED OF TAKING $500,000

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 18—The United States court of appeals today affirmed the decision of lower court sentencing Edgar F. Hiatt, former president of the Dickinson Trust Company of Richmond, Ind., to five years in the federal penitentiary.

Hiatt was convicted in the United States district court in Indianapolis several months ago on a charge of misusing the Dickinson Trust Company funds.

He was charged with appropriating approximately $500,000 of the institution's money to his own use.

Counsel for Hiatt appealed from the decision of Federal Judge Anderson. The federal appeals court here tried the case in November.

Hiatt has thirty days in which to appeal to the United States Supreme court. His lawyer did not indicate whether an appeal would be made.

CHRISTMAS TRADE HEAVY IN RUSHVILLE

Warm, Rainy Weather Has Not Deterred Early Shoppers, According to Local Merchants

COLD WAVE WILL HELP SOME

Christmas Rush Not Really Under Way at Postoffice, But There Has Been Much Early Mailing

Christmas trade has been heavy in Rushville this week, according to reports from local merchants, and the warm, rainy weather has not put any damper on the Christmas spirit that is manifested in early shopping.

The unseasonable temperatures of the past few days, it was expected would slow up Christmas business, but it has not had that effect on the trade, business men say.

Rushville has been crowded with shoppers every day this week, and the crowds are expected to increase each day, especially if the promised cold wave materializes and people are reminded that Christmas is just "around the corner."

Many who have visited the Rushville stores this week have said that they do not recall when they were more beautiful. Merchandise and toys of every description, that will answer every gift want imaginable, are being attractively displayed.

Clothing stores and others that remain open in the evening regularly, will be open for business every night until Christmas and other stores are planning to open after supper next week for the accommodation of shoppers who are unable to buy during the day.

The Christmas rush has not really started at the postoffice yet, according to postal authorities, who state, however, that the Christmas receipts are the equal of last year's at this time.

All preparations have been made by the postoffice employees to take care of the heavy business when it does begin by opening up a large window in the rear of the postoffice lobby, where Christmas parcels may be mailed.

The campaign for early mailing has been having its effect more every year, according to men at the postoffice, who note that people are following the advice of the postoffice department and are mailing their parcels which have many miles to travel, several days before Christmas.

IMMIGRATION TO BE TOPIC OF CONFERENCE

House Committee Approves Project to Call Countries of Western Hemisphere

UNIFORM POLICY WANTED

Washington, Dec. 18—The house immigration committee has approved a project for summoning a conference of all the countries of the Western Hemisphere to meet in the United States, to bring about a uniform immigration policy.

President Coolidge may shortly be called upon to summon the conference. Return of Secretary of Labor Davis from South America where he has been sounding out sentiment toward such a meeting is awaited before giving the movement definite form.

The projected conference, which had been discussed by the countries in secrecy for the past three months would seek first to band new world countries into a sort of "Monroe Doctrine of immigration" and second to standardize admission requirements and administrative details of handling and locating immigration.

Such questions as exclusion of the Japanese would come up only in a general way at first. The conference would not attempt to take up the question of immigration into the western hemisphere from any particular country, confining it only to laying down general principles of new world immigration policy.

Questions affecting individual countries probably would go over to later conferences.

DESPERATE CRIMINAL CAUGHT

Floyd Black, 28, Badly Wounded in Gun Battle at Terre Haute

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 18—Floyd Black, 28, said by police to be a criminal with a record, was captured here today after a gun battle in which he was so severely wounded that he was immediately rushed to a hospital by arresting officers in an effort to have his life.

Black has been hunted five days as an accomplice of his brother Lester, already under arrest in an attempted wreck of the Dixie Flyer, C. & E. I. creek train.

DEFENSE IN M'COY CASE OPENS

First Evidence Introduced by Attorneys for Former Pugilist

Los Angeles, Dec. 18—The defense in the case of "Kid" McCoy, charged with murdering Mrs. Teresa Mors, his ninth sweetheart, today was to call its first witnesses to the stand.

After eight days of prosecution testimony, the pugilist-lover now has his inning. Whether he goes to the gallows for the alleged slaying hinges on the turn of affairs in the next few days.

Mrs. Clara Simpson, intimate friend of Mrs. Mors and McCoy, may be one of the early defense witnesses called to support the "Kid's" claim that his paramour committed suicide.

MUSICAL SHOW FINDS A HEARTY RECEPTION

"The Gypsy Rover" Presented at Graham Annex Auditorium by High School Glee Clubs

WILL BE REPEATED TONIGHT

Tuneful Music and Well Trained Chorus Make Musical Comedy Entertaining

Set to tuneful music, "The Gypsy Rover," a typical musical comedy wherein all's well that ends well, found a hearty reception at its first presentation at the Graham Annex auditorium Wednesday night.

It was given by the boys and girls glee clubs of the Rushville high school, under the direction of David Seneff McIntosh, supervisor of music in the Rushville high school, and assisted by the Rushville high school orchestra, which played the score like veterans.

The plot, if it may be called one, revolves around the love affair of the gypsy rover, known as Rob, played by William Behr, and Lady Constance, daughter of English nobility.

Miss Emily Mauzy as Lady Constance sang her part most entertainingly and won the admiration of the audience with her charming manner and her ability to sing the rather difficult yet melodious numbers.

The chorus work was splendid and the whole performance moved with snap and precision under the waving baton of Mr. McIntosh, who trained the youthful musical comedy stars.

"The Gypsy Rover" will be repeated tonight at the Graham Annex. It merits a much larger crowd than was out last night, but the attendance was considerably reduced by the heavy rain that interfered with many attending.

The scenes are set in a gypsy camp near London where Rob, who in reality is Sir Gilbert Howe, meets Lady Constance by accident, and succeeding scenes are in the home of Lady Constance's father, Sir George Martindale, where Rob's identity is finally disclosed and his romance with Lady Constance ends happily.

Those playing the principal parts were as follows:

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE IS UNDER WAY TODAY

Farm Bureau Campaign For New Members Starts With Four Meetings Wednesday Night

OTHER MEETINGS TONIGHT

Canvass of Township Follows Sessions Each Day and Thus Whole County Will be Covered

The annual membership campaign of the Rush County Farm Bureau was under way today, following four township meetings held Wednesday evening, and a similar series of meetings will be held tonight and Friday afternoon and evening.

The same plan will be followed as in the past. After the township meetings, canvassers will cover the township the following day, soliciting membership renewals and new members.

The membership drive is held on the heels of the county convention, which took place here Tuesday. At the convention the work of the county farm bureau was reviewed and in the evening at the annual banquet, achievements of the state bureau were outlined by the Indiana president, William H. Settle.

Four speakers who have wide experience in farm bureau are in the county and one will address a township meeting each night.

The first series was held by Orange, Noble, Center and Posey townships. C. A. Young, chairman of the Clinton county farm bureau, spoke at the Orange township meeting which was held at the Gowdy M. E. church. Noble township meeting was held at the New Salem school building and the speaker was H. R. Neyens of Morgan county. The New Salem orchestra provided music and refreshments were served.

The Center township meeting was held at the Mays hall and Oscar Swank of Montgomery county, a director of the Livestock Producers association, delivered the address. A musical program was given by O. P. Wansley and Capt. Parsons of the Salvation Army of this city.

W. H. Robbins of Whitley county, a state director of the farm bureau for northern Indiana, addressed the meeting of Posey township farmers at the Arlington M. E. church. An oyster supper was a feature of the evening's gathering.

Richland township farmers held a meeting at Nell's Corner last night, preliminary to the regular session of the farm bureau at Richland tonight. Other meetings scheduled for tonight are as follows:

Ripley township, Carthage auditorium; Jackson township, at the township school building, with an oyster supper in connection; Anderson township, at the Milroy school building to be preceded by a supper at 5:30 o'clock.

SAY THAT MORTIMER HAD BAD REPUTATION

Defense Witnesses Assert That His Story Was Prompted by Bitter Feeling Against Forbes

TO DESTROY HIS TESTIMONY

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 18—Elias H. Mortimer, star witness for the government in the Forbes-Thompson fraud trial, has a "bad reputation" in Washington and was nearly ejected from a Washington hotel for extraordinary drunkenness, character witness called by the defense testified today.

Mortimer, a paid agent of the government, testified he was a party to the conspiracy between Col. Charles Forbes, former head of the Veterans' bureau, and John Thompson, St. Louis contractor, to defraud the government through illegal contracts for building veteran's hospitals. Upon his story of bribery and corruption in high offices, the government depends in its efforts to convict Forbes and Thompson.

Contending that Mortimer's story was utterly "false" and prompted by his bitter feeling toward Forbes the defense set about at once in an effort to destroy the value of his testimony.

TO SING OVER RADIO

Ned Jackson of Milroy, and a student of the Conservatory of Music at Cincinnati, Ohio, will sing over the radio tonight from station WSAI, Cincinnati, between ten and twelve o'clock. Mr. Jackson has a splendid baritone voice and has sung at different social functions in this city and also in several of the churches here.

TO UNDERGO OPERATION

Miss Helen Jacine, Latin instructor in the Rushville high school will go to Indianapolis to undergo an operation for tonsils and adenoids, and her Latin classes will be in charge of Miss Laura McMakin and Miss Mary Maud Reed, students of Latin.

De Valera Under Arrest

Eamon De Valera, Irish republican leader, cannot keep out of jail. Here U.S. police are seen ushering him into their automobile outside the town hall in Newry. After a night in jail he was released, only to be arrested again at Londonderry. Now he is serving a 30-day sentence for failure to obey a mandate to keep out of the north.

Meetings scheduled for Friday will be as follows: Washington township, Raleigh hall, with corn show in connection, in the afternoon at night—Rushville township, at Webb school, with an oyster supper before the meeting; Union township, at Plum Creek church, with an oyster supper also; Walker township, at Homer, to be preceded by a supper.

Tipton—Joe Law had a sore spot on his jaw and physicians removed a splinter which had been there for three years.

Fairmount—This town believes in advertising. H. H. Hodges is painting three hundred signs which will be used to tell the world of opportunities of Fairmount.

Bluffton—Edward Ginner and Miss Cecil Black lost their marriage license but that didn't stop the ceremony. County Clerk Stroop issued them a new one free of charge.

Noblesville—Russell Conant, 16, a student in the manual training department at the high school, lost his left hand when he reached across the table to get a lock of wood and touched a band saw.

Portland—Ralph Ewry had a run for his life when a runaway flivver charged down the main street here.

The
Christmas
Peddler

By JOHN PALMER

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

ONLY a few people saw the incongruity of it. Abramowitz, in his long, greenish overcoat and the fur cap flattening his ears, had Christmas toys on his pushcart. There were few Jewish people in the Fourth district, though they were beginning to crowd the Irish hard on the outskirts. And the Irish thought it the most natural thing that old Abramowitz should sell Christmas toys.

Why not? All the youngsters wanted toys. There were red devils, firecrackers that you stamped under foot and they went off with a succession of explosions that never came to an end. There were wonderful dolls, and stockings full of sweetmeats, and Christmas cards so cheap. Everybody bought of Abramowitz. It was the first sign of Christmas when little Mike or Dan would call across the street: "Hey, the old Christmas Jew's coming with his pushcart."

Only this year the month wore on toward Christmas and there was no sign of Abramowitz. It was the 20th of December. Suddenly at the end of the street, the cry was raised: "The Christmas Jew's coming!"

Out they tumbled into the street, all the little Mikes and Dons and Norns. Then a surprise awaited them. This wasn't Abramowitz—it was another Christmas Jew, with a forked, black beard and malicious eyes. And his wares—well, they might have been all right, but they weren't the kind old Abramowitz had brought. And, somehow, nobody wanted to buy from this young man.

"Hey, where's Mr. Abramowitz?"
"He's ill. He ain't coming no more."
"What's the matter with him?"
"Ill in hospital. Very ill. No come back. I buy his heesness."

But the business that the young man who had supplanted old Abramowitz

did was singularly meager. Abramowitz had been a feature of the neighborhood so long. Except at Christmas time he was simply a peddler, passing along the street with old clothes and ties and cheap jewelry, but at Christmas he took on a peculiar atmosphere among the denizens of Cherry Hill. No, this wasn't their Christmas Jew. Next day the young man was back again, but still business was meager. And he walked up and down, pushing his cart, a scowl upon his face. Why didn't anybody want to buy? He had been told it was a splendid opportunity to cut in on his rival's trade. He couldn't understand it.

There Was Abramowitz.

The twenty-second came. Somehow nobody quite lost faith in Abramowitz turning up. It seemed impossible that the old man wouldn't have notified somebody. But the twenty-third came.

Suddenly little Dan ran screaming up the street: "Hey, fellers, the Christmas Jew's come back!"

Out they poured—Mike, Dan, Nora and Kitty. There was Abramowitz, his pushcart loaded with the choicest selection of Christmas toys that had ever come into Cherry Hill. And Abramowitz himself, in his green overcoat and fur cap, looking no more than the shadow of his former self.

He had come out of the hospital a week before they wanted to dismiss him. He wasn't going to let his Christmas customers be disappointed. And now his barrow was almost empty.

"Christmas toys!" Up the street came the rival pushcart man, calling his wares and scowling. He stopped opposite Abramowitz and glared at him.

"Say, what you want to butt in on my trade for?" he demanded, advancing with truculent gestures.

That was a time in Cherry Hill. In an instant the young rival's pushcart was stripped of its contents. Dolls, stockings, Santa Clauses, Christmas cards went flying over the street. And the young rival "Christmas Jew" went howling down the street, pursued by a regular phalanx of Dons and Mikes and Phelans.

"Christmas toys, Christmas toys," whispered Abramowitz, pushing his nearly denuded cart along the road.

"You come back next Christmas?"
"Sure, sure! Always come back!"

whispered Abramowitz.

They watched him over the top of Cherry Hill. They did not know that he was going back to the hospital. Nor would they know that he had died there, until next Christmas found him missing. But there would be no rival next Christmas in Cherry Hill.

Make Your Choice:—Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. Matthew 6: 19, 21.

Prayer:—Lord, Thou hast said, "My Son give Me Thine heart." We would now give to Thee our hearts and then we cannot but give Thee all else now and ever.

U. S. ROZINANTES

The Chief of Cavalry of the United States Army, in his annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924, says:

"It is a pleasure to record that all cavalry regiments have attained very nearly, if not entirely, the authorized enlisted strength during the year—an agreeable contrast to the depleted strength existing at the date of my last annual report. The spirited methods and accurately functioning system of training which now prevail in the regular cavalry can thus produce the maximum benefit, in so far as legal limitations as to strength permit.

"Although the purchase of cavalry horses authorized during the fiscal year 1925 will relieve, to some extent, the serious situation which has existed, it is my duty to point out that on June 30, 1925, there will exist an additional estimated shortage of between 1000 and 1200 cavalry horses, and that the average age of the horses in the cavalry, excepting those purchased during the present year, will be about 15 1/2 years. The rapidity with which cavalry can act in the event of emergency ought to justify its having a sufficiency of capable mounts at all times."

That is a high average age for a cavalry horse. It would be high for a goat, and it is fortunate cavalry horses do not wear whiskers. The cavalry horse begins to deteriorate at seven years of age. Of course if the cavalry horse were intended primarily for purposes of barricade, these old nags, being tougher, might better serve in such capacity; but cavalry is used for swift action, and it is by no means an obsolete branch of the fighting force. A fifteen-year old horse might suit a pacifist for offensive operations, but even a pacifist would prefer the younger generation in case of a retreat. The American cavalryman is more glorious in advance than in retreat, therefore, he ought to have a horse suited to his temperament.

Famous Islands

The Isle of Yap became famous over night when it was involved in an international controversy and the Isle of Pines bids to become equally famous, due to a dispute as to its ownership.

Old maps have been searched for the blot on the ocean designating the island since it has been appearing in the news and has been raised to the dignity of being the subject of a treaty.

The Isle of Pines is a small patch of ground with an area of about one thousand square miles located south of the west end of Cuba. It was discovered by Columbus in 1493 and is rich in guano and ore.

It rose from obscurity after the Spanish-American war, when Americans began to settle on it, after its ownership was unsettled by the treaty of 1903 with Cuba.

Since that time its possession has been in dispute, but ingenious Americans have gone ahead developing its rich soil and there are now some 4,000 living there.

The little island was regarded as a part of Porto Rico, which passed to the United States by the treaty with Spain, but Cuba has been pressing its claim to the territory, and a treaty recognizing its claim has been framed and will probably be ratified by the senate during the present session of congress.

A committee of Americans has been busy in Washington lobbying against the treaty to protect their interests there in the face of the fact that the United States supreme court in April 1907, decided the island was not American territory; that the department of state has declared that the island was always administered as a part of Cuba; and that Secretary of State Root declared it rightfully belonged to Cuba.

The United States may recognize Cuba's right to the island, but there is nothing to prevent this country from buying the patch of ground because of the American capital invested there.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

WASHINGTON—The golden contingent in Congress will add a renowned recruit at the next session with the arrival of Dr. Charles Aubrey Eaton of Washington, N. J.

Eaton was famous 20 years ago as "John D. Rockefeller's pastor." He acquired the title by reason of his pastorate at the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church, Cleveland, where the oil magnate worshipped during his summer-time sojourns at his magnificent Forest Hill estate.

But it wasn't so much his preaching at John D.'s church that won him prominence, even then, as it was his golfing. John D. had a private golf course on his estate and indulged in a daily game for the sake of his health.

And on these occasions he usually had his physician or his pastor, or both, as golfing companions. As a result, Eaton's prowess with a masher became even better known in the "Sixth City" than his persuasiveness as a pastor.

IN 1909 Eaton graduated from the Cleveland church into the pastorate of the Madison Avenue Church, New York. Rockefeller at about this time also abandoned his Cleveland home, preferring to spend his summers at Tarrytown and New York and his winters in Florida.

Sociology always has been a hobby with Eaton, and it was the sociological trend of his discourses that is said to have first attracted the attention of Rockefeller, who was seeking at that time for channels and methods through which his millions might be made to work for the general welfare.

This sociological bent caused Eaton, during the war, to surrender his pulpit to head the National Service Section of the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation. Introduced into his new job by Charles M. Schwab, then head of the Shipping Board, Eaton told the workers at one of the big shipyards, in an address:

"If you catch a spy in these shipyards, blow him to hell!" So—whether as a golfer or as a forceful speaker—Eaton may reasonably be expected to make himself heard in Washington.

JUST how gun-shy officialdom was of any act that might be in any way construed as recognition of the presence in Washington of a pretender to the Russian throne was shown by the scarcity of persons connected with the government at the fete in honor of Grand Duchess Cyril.

Never a cabinet officer or State Department attaché of any rank got within gunshot of the Willard Hotel during her presence there. They couldn't have been more cautious had a smallpox sign been displayed.

PROBABLY no member of the Senate surveys the political situation more blandly than Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana.

Sam, you may remember, had the Democratic nomination for president within his grasp along about the 19th ballot last July.

Tom Taggart had at last got things ripped up for the Hoosier colon and breaks in the deadlocked delegations had set in in his favor, when a telegram from Indianapolis was received putting an end to the procession. Much as he appreciated the honor, Sam said, or something to that effect, he simply could not accept a nomination.

The meaning of which was explained to me by one of Sam's sons on the convention floor.

"The nomination wouldn't be worth anything, so why should father want it?" he asked.

So Sam has just celebrated his 77th birthday "feeling much better than if I had been a presidential candidate," he explains.

The big event of the week will soon be here. While the Connersville game is important, yet the Lions have more important games ahead of them. With the ole fight, pep and rush, the Lions should not have a great deal of trouble in overcoming the visiting team from Connersville. Start fast, finish fast—that's a good motto. Then Nik the Ikkniks.

Over at Connersville the game Friday night has been the chief topic of talk for three weeks, and the other game have been forgotten. They are putting forth such great stress on the game here Friday, that they are overlooking the fact that they meet Franklin on the Connersville floor, Saturday night.

Alibi No. 1. Word from Connersville next Monday—"The game at Rushville Friday night was so hard that the Spartans didn't have much pep left to fight Franklin on the next night."

Then too, Franklin isn't going to have any easy time Friday night. They meet Columbus, and this team is liable to make Franklin step some.

DON'T BE TOO OVERCONFIDENT WITH THAT CONNERSVILLE BUNCH. BUT HAVE ENOUGH CONFIDENCE TO WIN THE GAME. IT'S THE FIGHT AND RUSH THAT WILL WIN OUT FOR YOU. AND KEEP THINGS MOVING LIVELY LIONS.

Ole Side Lights of Connersville is coming for that homecoming game Friday night. Of course he doesn't care much about the game, he just wants to attend the homecoming celebration.

Big Ten From Greensburg
Editor "Short Passes":
Take this red hot tip from me—Greensburg's standing in Indiana's Big Ten should be raised since their overwhelming victory over Tim Campbell's highly touted five. Here's the way I pick 'em:

Vincennes.
Kokomo.
Frankfort.
Greensburg.
Rushville.
Franklin.
Columbus.
Connersville.
Bedford.
Fairmount.
—A Booster for Greensburg.

DON'T LET THE BIG TEN BUSINESS GO TO YOUR HEAD. IT DOESN'T COUNT FOR ANYTHING EXCEPT COMMENT CONCERNING HOW OTHER TOWNS LOOK UPON YOUR PLAYING.

Dear Hittin' 'Em:
I will try my luck again. I hope this will cheer the Lions up a bit.

I. The Ikkniks are tall.
So watch them fall
Through the floor
As the Lions come out of the door

II. The Ikkniks are skinny
They ain't worth one penny
So watch them scamper and fly,
As the King comes marching by!

III. The Lions at the Bull Dogs,
Lions said, "They tasted like bull frogs."
So the Lions will eat the Ikkniks
If they have to use clubs and sticks.

Yea IKKNIKS. BETTER STAY AWAY!
Yours, S. K.

Don't forget to celebrate that basketball game Friday night by attending the 98 cent dance at the social club. The dance will be in charge of the Tri Kappas, and the proceeds will go for charity.

This'll Work Both Ways
Hittin' 'em of the Rushville Republican says our slogan "Carve the L out of Mitchell" was a wicked one. Remembering that Connersville has two L's in it and that they meet the Rushville Lions this week we'd suggest that Hittin' 'Em look over the Washington-Mitchell score and use his judgment before selecting a battle cry—Basketballs in the Washington Democrat.

And while he's about it, he mustn't overlook the fact that Rushville's got two L's in it.
—Side Lights, Cville.

Others Have Their Troubles With The Scores

The following from Watching the Fools of Muncie, shows how errors have cost them several points:

To date Muncie has been "gyped" out of just exactly 52 points in the four games played by local teams. Newspapers over the state are responsible. The score of the game played by the local seconds against Summitville was given as 29 to 16 instead of 29 to 19, the correct count; the Portland score was given as 13 to 11 instead of 53 to 11; the Hartford City score as 34 to 7 instead of 36 to 7 and now comes this report of 30 to 27 in the game at Kokomo.

WE'RE EXPECTIN' IT!

"Hittin' 'Em has adopted a slogan for the "battle of the century" when Connersville plays the Lions. His slogan is "Nik the Ikkniks", which should just about set E. I. off like a cannon cracker.

—Markin' 'em up, Newcastle

We Can Lick 'Em With Only 4 Players

SIDE LIGHTS:
Let's hope nothing is wrong with any of the Rushville players, like it has been in the past. Someone gets hurt or sick or can't play because this time we don't want them to have any alibis.

SIX HORSEMEN
—Side Lights, Cville.

HERE'S ANOTHER BIG 10

From Washington, Ind., comes this:

Dear Town Crier:
How's this for a big ten after all the nice upsets of the dope bucket, last Friday and Saturday. I am putting Frankfort in the lead despite the fact that Kokomo defeated them and Muncie defeated Kokomo, because I think that the Frankfort team had some hard luck that night. So here goes: Frankfort, Kokomo, Vincennes, Washington, Martinsville, Franklin, Muncie, Bedford, Shelbyville and Rushville.

Yours for better sport,
W. H. S. Graduate '24.

NOT A SINGLE WIN THIS SEASON!

Newcastle Plays at Marion Saturday Night

Newcastle next Saturday night, and ladies and those who hang on street car straps, Marion must win that encounter. Believe me, it would be no pleasure to have to push a peanut around our public square with a lead pencil—and that's just what B-B will have to do if those fighting Newcastle Trojans lick Marion. And, sweet essence of basketball, if Marion wins, "Markin' 'em up" Newcastle Courier's columnist, has to wheedle a full-grown peanut around the Newcastle public square. Just a little friendly bet between columnists—and it certainly looks bad for friend "Markin' 'Em Up."

MOSCOW INDEPENDENTS DEFEAT BALL DRUGS FIVE

Come From Behind in Last Half at Muncie Wednesday Night and Win by 4 Points

LOCAL TEAM DRAWS BIG CROWD

The Moscow Independents Wednesday night continued to show their superiority over Muncie teams when they defeated the giant Ball Brothers team, one of the strongest quintets in that section of the state, by the close score of 28 to 24. The game was played at Muncie, before a large crowd.

The team from Rush county won the eastern Indiana title last spring at Muncie, and when they appeared last night at Muncie, they were given a big attendance, and emerged victors with more popularity than ever.

The game was fast from start to finish. Moscow showed an evenly balanced team, with great accuracy on long shots. Muncie was ahead 15 to 9 at the half, and it took great playing in the last half to overcome the six point lead.

The summary:

Moscow 28	Muncie 24
P. Gosnell	F. T. Bebout
Green	H. Bebout
N. Gosnell	C. Clark
T. Gosnell	G. F. Bebout
C. Gosnell	G. Miller

GREY HOUNDS LOSE, 34 TO 20

New Salem Independent Team is Defeated by Brookville

The New Salem Grey Hounds lost to Brookville at Brookville Tuesday night by the score of 34 to 28. The first half ended 20 to 14. New Salem was without the services of King, who was in an auto accident recently, and V. Wilson. K. Wilson was the outstanding star on the floor, registering 6 field goals, while Harrop went best for Brookville.

The line-up and summary.

Brookville 34	New Salem 28
Rousterholtz	F. Norris
Telly	F. Beckner
Harrop	C. K. Wilson
Cook	G. Logan
McCarty	G. H. Wilson

Substitutions, Ralston for H. Wilson; field goals, Rousterholtz 5, Telly 9, Harrop 3, Cook, Norris 4, Beckner 3 K. Wilson 6, Ralston. Foul goals, Cook.

Change Was Bad Ring Year

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 12.—When purses of a hundred thousand or more dollars were being handed out last year for the fighters in ordinary bouts the financiers of the game predicted that it couldn't last any longer, than the public would permit itself to be sucked for prices for tickets.

The anticipated slump came this summer and the collapse of the business end of the game was the big feature of the year. The business depression, which came so suddenly, was blamed upon the radio and non-fighting champions by Tex Rickard, who certainly ought to have some competent ideas about the sport.

There is not the slightest doubt that thousands of fans in New York alone, who used to be regulars at all the shows in Madison Square Garden turned to the radio when Rickard gave permission to have a description of the contest broadcast from the ringside. It is likewise true that thousands of fans who could not be satisfied in merely hearing a fight, quit contributing to the support of the game when the best of the matches that could be arranged were hardly worth walking across the street to see.

It is a generally accepted theory that when the heavyweight and lightweight divisions are not active that general interest slackens in the other classes. Dempsey didn't fight all year because no match could be arranged that would bring in the money Dempsey demands for defending his title. Leonard fought only once and ran out of the star bout on the summer program, a fight with Mickey Walker for the welterweight championship.

"None of the champions will fight. They all have a reason. The other fighters also have excuses for not accepting matches that would provide the least contest for them," Rickard said recently. "The heavyweights all want to fight, Dempsey but none of them will fight Gibbons."

To illustrate his point, Rickard jotted down the following on a slip of paper:

"Dempsey—too much money.
"McTigue—afraid.
"Walker—running away from Shade.
"Leonard—too much money, stage struck.
"Goldstein—too careful. Poor card.
"Villa—afraid of Genaro."

Last winter it was predicted that several of the champions, reigning then would be dethroned before another year rolled around and three or four of them would have lost their titles if they had been willing to fight. As a result of the inactivity, only two championships were lost.

Johnny Dundee gave up the world's featherweight championship when he resigned on the grounds that he no longer could make the weight. Joe Lynch lost his bantamweight championship when he was outpointed by Abe Goldstein. Making the weight had more to do with his loss than any punching Goldstein.

The New York boxing commission is now trying to find a successor for Dundee by promoting an elimination tournament among the contenders. The commission also is seeking the way to make the careful champions fight.

The flop of Luis Firpo, the outstanding fighter of 1923 was one of the big surprises of the year. There are those, of course, who said after Firpo had been beaten by Harry Wills and Charley Weinart that he never could fight, but the big South American wasn't beaten so much by Wills and Weinart as he was licked by himself. He neglected to keep himself in shape and he refused to undergo the strict training that was necessary to get him into fighting condition.

When he was defeated by Wills in the one big bout of the year he was eliminated from future consideration as a championship possibility, but at the same time Wills made such a poor showing that he was almost removed himself as the outstanding challenger for the title. Wills made a very bad fight and he succeeded in outpointing the South American in an uninteresting bout by resorting to tactics that were on the border line of the rules. If they weren't foul enough to cause a disqualification, Wills hit Firpo with everything he had and didn't

Advances in Every Phase of Operation and Ownership

Before a car can attain a success as complete and all-inclusive as the Chrysler Six it must present advances bearing materially on all phases of performance and ownership. No matter how powerful and flexible the engine, no matter how sturdy the construction, no matter how economical the operation—there must also be superior riding qualities and superior appearance.

The Chrysler Six, sweeping aside tradition, offered advances in every one of these particulars. It scored on all counts. No wonder, then, that it won an unprecedented success almost overnight and a victory that is complete.

You Can't Do Your Work When Your Stomach Isn't Working--Take Di-Jo

If you feel lousy and tired after your meal, there is ordinarily a good reason for it. Your stomach isn't digesting your food properly and your body feels the drag on your whole system.

You can't feel bright and cheery and "rarin' to go" with such a drawback. Just go to your druggist and ask for Di-Jo. Take it regularly and you'll find it putting the spring into your step, and you'll notice how much better your stomach treats you and what's more, you'll discover that your food is not only being easily and properly digested but that it is giving your body the proper nourishment.

Don't neglect your stomach and don't fail to help it with Di-Jo. This remedy is primarily an aid to digestion and just about nine times out of ten you'll find that a sound stomach means a sound body. Ask your druggists for Di-Jo.

If you are troubled with constipation take DI-VAC. It is sold by all druggists and is recommended to be used in connection with Di-Jo, if any is needed.

TAX SPECIALIST TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

Income taxation is undoubtedly one of the most important problems of the day. Every change in the law, every new regulation, every revised interpretation, has a direct effect upon the taxpayer's account with the United States Government. Yet experience shows that the average person does not know how to correctly prepare his income tax return.

Believing that Daily Republican readers would be vitally interested in a subject of such import, especially at this time, it has been arranged to have an income tax column which will deal with this question from a simple, practical viewpoint.

In this connection, we have been fortunate in obtaining the services of M. L. Seidman, C. P. A., who will conduct this Department. Mr. Seidman is a well known tax expert and has been a close student of taxation in all its phases. He developed a plan of taxation that was submitted to the Senate Finance committee in executive conference prior to the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1921.

Mr. Seidman is a senior member of the firm of Seidman & Seidman, certified public accountants, a nationally known tax and accounting organization. He is also chairman of the committee of Tax consultants of the Committee of American Business Men, an association composed of many of the leading business men of the country.

The Department will appear weekly, and to further its scope, Mr. Seidman has consented to answer through our columns all questions that might be directed to him bearing on the subject.

Questions should be addressed to The Tax Editor, in care of the Daily Republican. All communications must be signed by the inquirer, but no names will be disclosed in the published answers.

The bashful young man wanted to propose, but he did not know just what to say. Finally he blurted out: "If I were you I'd marry me!"

The Christmas Announcement

By Mary Graham Bonner

(© 1936, Western Newspaper Union.)

WALLY TREADWAY, on Wally, as his friends knew him, sang the tenor part in the moving picture and vaudeville theater quartette Magnificent songs they sang ("program changed weekly") with beautiful stage settings as their background. "By the Old Camp-Fire" thrilled his listeners, and Wally, sitting over a stage fire consisting of two electric light bulbs shining upon a strip of painted tin with a red streak of paint in the curtains above him to indicate the glow from the fire's embers; Wally in a khaki hat and suit and silk handkerchief about his neck singing the song of haying, or making the tears come to the eyes of the audience when he sang "As I Sat Upon My Dear Old Mother's Knee," was about the "grandest" man Blanche Draper, the head usher, had ever seen.

True, Wally had never seen a camp fire, nor had he ever sat upon his mother's knee, for he had spent his youth in an orphanage and he could love the golden light which was sent down from the green and gold ceiling upon the "new-mown hay" as he stood pitchfork in hand, even though he had never seen the real country.

They went out a great deal together, yet as the time went on Wally seemed to grow quieter. Perhaps he was tired of her. He had sent her a Christmas gift that afternoon of Christmas Eve, and yet with it had come this note, shattering all her happiness:

"Blanche Dear: I know it will seem awful to you reading of the engagement announced in this afternoon's paper, but if you'll only give me a chance I'll explain so you won't think me such a cad. Give me the chance to put myself right. At least for the sake of our friendship and the grand times we've had, don't judge me hastily. Not that I don't want to be engaged—I do! But I want to talk to you about everything soon! So I can explain. Perhaps after the show tonight?"

So there was some one else, and the engagement had been announced. That was why Wally had grown quieter and quieter. He had been trying to break it to her, and she had thought at times he was shy. He hadn't been so shy, after all!

She would not go to the theater tonight. What did she care for explanations? Cora Brown, her roommate and assistant usher, would take charge.

"I Got a Couple of Extra Copies of the Paper."

She heard Cora's step now.

"What! You in, Blanche?" she asked.

"Yes," came from Blanche a moment later.

"You're a queer one—thought you'd be out celebrating. Only you might have slipped me the news first. I got a couple of extra copies of the paper." "Let me see," Blanche said sadly. She had to see it sooner or later, and face the situation. And then suddenly her eyes lighted upon her own name. With a rush and an explanation which seemed mad to Cora, she had hastened from the room. She could just catch Wally at the pastry shop where so often they had eaten their supper together.

And then—as she saw Wally at a table at the far end—it dawned on her that Wally had never proposed to her. It was a mistake! And that was why he was apologizing.

He beckoned her to his table. "Darling," he said, "it was not my fault. I didn't brag to Jennings, our publicity man, you know, of what I had no right. I only said I hoped it would be an engagement, and he just thought he'd stick it in, for he believes we are engaged."

"Oh, Blanche, can you forgive me? And can't you make—the announcement come true?"

"I—I'll make it real if you urge good and hard, Wally," she said.

That night before she went to bed she took one of the newspapers to tuck under her pillow.

"Oh, what a merry Christmas you've given me," she whispered to the paper. "You're a blessed Christmas announcement, that's what you are. I could almost hug you—you beautiful printed words!"

And she smiled at the announcement in a most approving way!

Pause now, for a space.

In the midst of your mirth.

Remember the Christ.

And His coming to earth;

His life and His work.

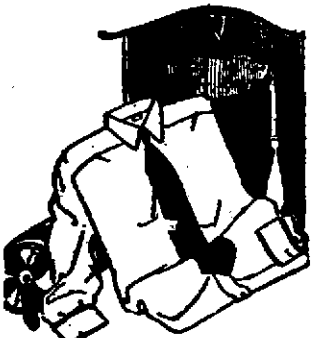

And the purpose in view.

And question each heart

Of the work still to do.

Christmas Giving

KATHERINE EDELMAN

(© 1936, Western Newspaper Union.)

AST your bread upon the waters and it will come back to you after many days. How many times have these words come true for each one of us—aye, more than true, for the little loaf that we sent out came back multiplied many times and its quality was improved a hundred fold. Every kind word spoken, every helping hand given a fellow-being traveling over some roughened mile, if done with the right spirit within our hearts, will be repaid a hundred fold. For while we are doing acts of service and helpfulness we are not alone helping our fellow men but are building up our own character and uplifting ourselves to a higher plane.

So it is with Christmas giving, too. If we give with the real spirit of the season, from the pure joy that giving brings, we will find as the days go on that what we gave and did was but a mite compared to the returns it brought us.

Discouraged Actor

"No Christmas tree this year?" "No," replied Mrs. Biggins. "Children outgrown tinsel and toys?" "No. Father lost his ambition to play Santa Claus."

A Room Full

"Elsie seems to have a great many girl friends." "Judge for yourself. She received 28 boudoir caps, alone, for Christmas presents."

The Sin of Lying

The sin of telling a lie is not great. When a man returns from fishing, it is not a very serious matter if he admits a fish or two to his string; every one has fished, and knows the probabilities, so no one is harmed. . . . The real sin of telling lies is the waste of time; it isn't the shortest, easiest or best way.
